

When riding a roller coaster, no matter how frightening the ride, one knows that you will return to the start at some point with all passengers getting safely off. With the market, not so much, it has been such a scary ride that many people got off the ride at the March bottom, vowing to never ride again, only to see the market's rebound over 16% in the second quarter. The rally in equities was strong enough to make the market slightly positive for 2009 year-to-date. Treasuries engaged in a rate tug-of-war during the quarter with the yield on the ten year starting at 2.68% hitting a high of 4.01% before closing the quarter at 3.52%.

Contrary to media reports, both current and future inflation measures stand at reasonable levels. For example, Consumer Price Index (CPI) inflation stands at -1.3% on a year-over-year basis and core CPI reports a modest 1.8% inflation rate. Although inflation expectations have risen this year as measured by the market, we believe the Fed has room to follow its aggressively accommodative policy. We do note the jobs picture continued to deteriorate in the quarter as the unemployment rose to 9.5%, the highest rate since 1983. The big fears in the market at the start of the quarter are run-away government spending on the Federal, State and Local levels, the prospect of higher taxes and Government becoming too big. Advance Billing Notice

This is to provide you with notice that Centurion Counsel will charge your account for the third quarter 2009 management fee. Your management fee for this quarter will be $ 909.71. This was calculated by multiplying your account value as of the end of the previous quarter by 1/4 of your annual fee rate, as stated in your client agreement. If assets are deposited into your account during the quarter, a pro-rata share of the quarterly fee will be charged. If you are currently paying your management fee by check, your check should be received by September 1, 2009. All checks should be made payable to Centurion Counsel. Please direct any questions regarding this advance billing notice to your registered representative.

SEC Rule 11Ac1-6: Quarterly Report on Routing of Customer Orders

SEC Rule 11Ac1-6 requires all brokerage firms to make publicly available quarterly reports on the order routing practices. This report provides information on the routing of "non-directed orders" – any order that the customer has not specifically instructed to be routed to a particular venue for execution.

FINRA – SIPC Information Rule 2342

FINRA Conduct Rule 2342 requires us to inform clients of registered broker-dealers of their rights under the Securities Investor Protection Corporation (SIPC). SIPC, created under the Securities Investor Protection Act of 1970, protects customers of registered securities broker-dealers from certain losses if a SIPC member fails financially and is unable to meet obligations of its securities customers. SIPC does not, however, protect clients against losses from changes in market value of their securities. Further information regarding your rights under SIPC, including a brochure, you can contact SIPC directly by phone at 202-371-8300 or at their website address, www.sipc.org.

Information About Our Company

Please take a moment to read the following information regarding our privacy policies. Information regarding the public disclosure program of the Financial Regulatory Authority (“FINRA”) is also included. Since you are a customer of our advisory services, information about obtaining a current copy of our Summary Disclosure Statement in lieu of Form ADV Part II is provided. Thank you for the opportunity to meet your financial services needs.

Privacy Guidelines

At Centurion Counsel, we are committed to safeguarding your personal information. Please read this notice to learn more about our privacy policies.

This notice describes the privacy policies of Centurion Counsel. Other companies and business that are affiliated with Centurion Counsel may have their own policies and you will receive their policies separately. These privacy policies apply to individuals who obtain or apply for a financial product or service for personal, family, or household purposes, or have done so in the past.

I. Information That We Collect

As part of providing you with our service, we obtain nonpublic personal information about you which may include the following:

- Information we receive from you on applications, questionnaires, or other forms including name, address, social security number, assets and income, and other information we may receive from your financial advisor.
- Information about your transactions with us, our affiliates, or others, such as balances, payment history, parties to transactions and account usage.

II. Information That We Share

We share information in a limited and controlled manner. We share your information in order to complete transactions quickly and efficiently, identify and protect you against fraud, enable us to determine the right services to meet your needs and to provide you with proper customer service. Examples of customer information that we may share include:

- Information we receive from you, such as your name, address, social security number, assets, and income, as provided, for example, on account applications.
- Information about your transactions with us, our affiliates and others, such as balances, payment history, parties to transaction, and account usage.

Depending on your type of relationship you have with Centurion Counsel, we may share information with other Centurion Counsel affiliates, as well as with nonaffiliated third parties as set forth below.

A. Sharing Information With Centurion Counsel Affiliated

We share information about you with other Centurion Counsel affiliates as permitted by law in order to provide you with other financial tools and services. We may share identification information and transaction experience with Centurion Counsel affiliates. Our affiliates provide a wide range of financial services and include broker-dealers, investment advisers, financial planners and insurance brokers, among others.

B. Sharing Information With Third Parties Not Affiliated With Centurion Counsel

We do not disclose information to unaffiliated third parties except in limited circumstances and only in accordance with applicable law. Please be assured that whatever the reason for sharing personal information, we take steps to assure that those parties respect your privacy by limiting the use of the information to the purpose for which it was disclosed. These unaffiliated third parties may include:

- Companies that perform services for your account that we do not provide ourselves. Such services include account valuation, preparation of account statements, determination of fees and printing services.
- Companies that will help protect your account from fraud.
- Companies that provide services and products necessary to effect a transaction that you request or to service your account such as clearing firms, mutual fund companies and insurance companies.
- Government agencies, courts, parties to lawsuits in response to subpoenas or otherwise as required by law. In such cases, we share only the information that we are required or authorized to share.

We do not share information with nonaffiliated companies who intend to market their products to you. For example, we will not sell names and address to marketing companies.

If the financial advisor servicing your account or providing you services leaves our company to join another broker-dealer or financial services firm, the financial advisor may be permitted to retain copies of your information so that he or she may assist with the transfer of your account and continue to service your account at their new company.

III. Confidentiality and Security

The security of your account information is important to us. Only those persons who need your information to perform their job have access to it. Additionally, we maintain physical, electronic and procedural security measures that comply with federal regulations to protect your information.

IV. Former Customers

If you end your relationship with Centurion Counsel, we will continue to adhere to the policies and practices described in this notice. If you close your account, we may share information with any new broker-dealer or custodian that you may select for purposes of transferring your account. To the extent we dispose of any information once you end your relationship with Centurion Counsel, we will do so in accordance with applicable law.
